

About the Company

Words to Sweat By™ officially launched in 2010 with the intention of helping people, no matter their size, “exercise your funny bone along with the rest of you” by creating fun and affordable motivational health and fitness products.

What began with a line of one-size-fits-all sassy or serious mantra workout towels has grown to include mantra t-shirts, hand stamped jewelry, and organic cotton infinity scarves.

All Words to Sweat by products are designed and developed by Dana Lardner and made in the USA. The majority of the product line is handmade in Dana’s studio in San Jose, CA.
